Friendships provide children with more than just fun playmates. They gained knowledge to respect the likes and dislikes of friends and also significance of friends in life. Children were made aware of different ways to maintain hygiene as well the different parts of body and sense organs. They were taught about school, different places in their school and the need to follow class and school rules. JUNE 21 International Day of Yoga- The idea was first proposed by the current Prime Minister of India, Mr. Narendra Modi during his speech at the UNGA, on 27 September 2014. He stated:

Yoga is an invaluable gift of India's ancient tradition. It embodies unity of mind and body; thought and action; restraint and fulfillment; harmony between man and nature; a holistic approach to health and well-being. It is not about exercise but to discover the sense of oneness with yourself, the world and the nature. By changing our lifestyle and creating consciousness, it can help in wellbeing. Let us work towards adopting an International Yoga Day. – Narendra Modi, UN General Assembly

Dear Parents,
Summer Vacation is round the corner. It is that time of the year where children are free to be themselves without the rigor and tightly squeezed schedules that define school days. While educationists lament the loss of learning that takes place during the vacation time, popularly termed “Summer Slide” claiming that the disconnect with rigorous academic discipline offsets all the benefits and progress in the learning curve posted by children with consistent learning reinforcement programmes all through the year, they tend to overlook what the child stands to gain from letting him be during the refreshing month long vacation. But the watchword here is “Freedom”- freedom to be , freedom to explore the within and without, bond with the extended family , nature , pursue hobbies or just engage with oneself and others in his immediate surroundings in meaningful and purposeful ways.
In today's fast paced life where there is “no time to stand and stare”, Parents need to spend quality time with their children and make up for all the lost time by bonding with them during the vacation time. It is imperative that they do it, otherwise they will have only themselves to blame when faced with rebellious and difficult teenagers.

Some pointers for the students:

1. Keep up your daily schedule even during vacation- get up early and go to bed early. Don't miss out on the benefits of “Early to bed and Early to rise”.
2. You can garner a wealth of experience by productively engaging yourself through-out your waking hours.
3. Indulge in your hobbies you don't have time for during your school days.
4. Read good books.
5. Explore your neighborhood- you may never know what places of interest lie in your neighborhood until you explore for yourself!
6. Take to cycling in the evenings or a stroll in the morning in your neighbourhood park. Connect with nature around you to experience its beauty and bounty first hand.
7. Meet up with members of your extended family and catch up with what has been happening in the intermittent period when you cut off due to your packed schedule during school.
8. Make journal entries about things that transpired every day of your vacation. If you happen to visit any new place, keep a photo journal to record your experience.

For the Parents:

1. Spend quality time with your wards. Gift them your time. It is irreplaceable.
 2. Bond with your children through common hobbies.
 3. Set an example for your child by reading yourself.
 4. Take your children to visit their grandparents.
 5. Eat together as a family-Remember “The Family that eats together stays together.”
 6. Cherish your time together.
- So here's wishing all parents a fruitful and productive vacation with their wards!

Warm Regards,
Principal
